OBC (including OBC A and OBC B) candidates intending to get seats under non creamy layer category are to note that they are required to bring the latest renewed/revalidated certificate from the same authority who issued the previous certificate. Candidates from other states intending to participate in counseling has to show the latest order regarding revalidation/renewal of order for non creamy layer status if differs from the order of Govt of West Bengal.

All the reserved category candidates will be verified during document verification process by the officers of the backward Class Welfare Department and they will be verified during the admission process at the respective college and if required then even after admission process is over any time during the course. If it is found anytime that the “Reserved Category Status” is not proper, the admission and the candidature will be cancelled outright.

For the National Institute of Homeopathy (NIH), the seats are reserved as per 200 point roster and for the State Govt colleges, 100 point roster will be followed. If the reserved category seats are not filled up due to want of eligible candidates in the reserved category, this will be made open for unreserved after de-reservation as per extant rule in the continued counseling after obtaining the required permission from the BCWD of West Bengal.

However, all candidates are allowed to exercise choices for all the available seats but the seat allotment in Round 1 will be as per rank, category and BHMS passing State while the seat conversion will be allowed in the continued counseling of Round 2 where the choices put up by the eligible candidates during round 1 will be auto- upgraded and the seats vacant in the particular caste and sub caste will be converted as per extant rule of BCWD Govt of West Bengal.

Non-availability of category candidates, if any in Round 2: If ST seat remains unfilled; it will be converted as seats for SC. If SC seat remains vacant, it will go in favor of ST and if after conversion SC/ST candidates are not available, General candidates will fill up those seats in round 2. Similarly for OBC A and OBC B candidates the seat conversion in round 2 will follow the following algorithm OBC A to OBC B and vice versa and then to General. Or OBC to General (for NIH Kolkata)

The PH seats if any remaining vacant in Round 2 will be at first converted to the respective category without PH labeling and will then follow the algorithm as discussed above for seat conversion.

Candidates’ Eligibility for Round 2: Candidates eligible for seat allotment after choice upgradation in Round 2 would be from one of the following groups:-

- Group-I: Registered candidates who did not get any seat allotment in the round 1.
- Group-II: Registered candidates who have secured seat under reserved quota in round 1 and whose allotted Seat gets cancelled during the document verification on reporting for admission due to change of Category from reserved to Unreserved or PH status from Yes to No; they would still be eligible in the next round of seat allotment, with changed criteria.
- Group-III: Candidates who have reported at allotted institute after round 1 of allotment and submitted willingness for up gradation as Yes for Round 2.

Who are not allowed in Round 2:

- Candidates whose seats got cancelled due to improper documentation in Round 1 and/or category changed from reserved to unreserved or PH to Non PH and the candidate becomes ineligible with the changed criteria.
- Candidates who were not reported in Round 1 in their allotted seats.
- Candidates who have surrendered their seats during Round 1 reporting.

- Candidates who selected no in the willingness to participate in Round 2 during online reporting at the allotted institute.
- Candidates not in the eligible list for participation and
- Candidates in eligible list who have not filled up any choice in Round 1.

A candidate who is offered a seat under SC/ ST/ OBC/OBC-A/OBC-B category and/or PH sub-category, and could not produce supporting documents at the time of document verification at the allotted institute (which is mandatorily to be updated through appropriate authenticated web interface by designated counseling official), the allotted seat would be cancelled and the candidate will be considered for allotment in unreserved category in next round subject to eligibility and availability of vacant seats in unreserved category.

As there is no OBC seat in these State Govt colleges so OBC candidates including OBC A and OBC B candidates have to compete for such seats as General candidates.

Another 50% seats of the State Govt colleges are meant for candidates passing out of the BHMS colleges of West Bengal including NIH Kolkata. The reserved category candidates (SC/ST) whose certificates are issued from State other than West Bengal are allowed to participate as General category candidates for such seats.
